An Easter Song BY NEIL MACDONALD

COPYRIGHT BY HAMILTON MUSK

She sang me a song of triumph, a hymn of the Easter time,
That swept o'er the chords of feeling with the charm of its words and rhyme.

The theme was of love that conquered, that won in the war with death,
Of hope in a life immortal surviving the fleeting breath.

Like a grand, triumphant psalm, the psalm of a love supreme,
My soul was filled with its rapture—I lived in a strange, sweet dream.

And a calm came over my spirit, a peace without doubt or fear:
I felt on the waves of music upraised to a purer sphere.

COPYRIGHT BY PARKINSON CO. NEW YORK

Bright vistas opened before me, demences that the foot ne'er trod:

I longed for a bliss which only the soul finds in rest with God.

The wonderful anthem ended, its last notes dying away
As the south wind breathed its promise of verdure and flowers for May.

The jubilant chimes of Easter rang out with a glad refrain:
I felt that for man, as nature, the springtime would come again.

I thought of the risen Saviour, I thought of His empty tomb.

And over the graves of ages I saw the amaranth bloom.

Chorus—"Angels, Roll the Rock Away."

"Mary Magdalene,"
Baritone Solo, "And They Went Out Quickly"—J. A. Johnson.

Chorus, "Blessed Are They,"
Soprano Solo, "They Have Taken Away My Lord"—Mrs. H. F. Hinkley.

Chorus, "O Death, Where is Thy Sting?"

Final, "Blessing and Honor."
Chorus, "Lift Up Your Heads."

Benediction.
Postlude.

Soprano—Mrs. H. F. Hinkley, Miss Lou Harris, Mrs. Mabel Totten, Mrs. I. O. Schultz, Miss Edith W.
